Interest Response	I am interested in joining the Livable Streets Advisory Board because I have been a transit and bicycle transportation advocate for around two years. I am a year round bicycle commuter and since I travel on a bicycle daily, I am familiar with some of the dangers of riding a bike and walking. I am passionate about constantly coming up with ways to make streets safer. I want to help improve Lee's Summit and make it more walk-able and bike friendly. Over the years, I have done lots of research on making streets safer by looking at what other cities have accomplished, like the new bike lanes in Kansas City. I can bring a rational mindset as a concerned and passionate citizen on how to continue to promote alternative transportation, while accounting for the car transportation. I am also willing to communicate with the City Council to get input on any big projects that could arise. As a Web

Design and Developer Intern, I work with staff around the school district to meet their website needs. This has improved my communication skills and this will allow me to communicate effectively with all the members on the Livable Streets Advisory Board.

Other activities?

Starting in 2016, I have been actively involved with the city of Lee's Summit on having government buildings be powered by solar energy. The first project I was apart of was getting solar arrays next to the Animal Control Facility in June of 2018. I am still working with Assistant City Manager Mark Dunning, MC Power Senior Energy Consultant Lindsey Case, and Project Manager Dawn Bell to create n RFP plan to have continuous solar panel projects so that more buildings, like City Hall, can be powered by solar energy.

Interest in Serving On?

Livable Streets Advisory Board

Other Interests (Please Specify)

I love to travel, create latte art, and explore cities and natural parks. Whenever I visit new cities, I always pay attention to the bicycle and transit infrastructure to get ideas to bring back to Lee's Summit. I am getting my degree in Software Development and I enjoy designing and developing websites.
