Position Held:

Interest Response: As a music educator, I feel my perspective within the education arts can enliven and diversify the conversations. Our community is already offering a broad arts education to our students at the elementary level, however, the number of students that enroll at the secondary level is drastically lower. Perhaps a look into how community arts and culture and educational arts and culture can support and relevant one another is needed. I'm also a performer. I can speak with a deepened sense of awareness of how one prepares and presents.
