

Application of State Mandates
Based upon Conditions

The states below apply state law on a “conditional extraterritorial” basis, which means if certain conditions are met, state law will apply to the residents of that state regardless of where the policy is situated.

The need to add or remove conditional ET will be reviewed annually.

Grandfathered plans have the option to retain previous benefit administration to prevent a reduction in benefits.

Renewing Grandfathered Clients Only

Removing extraterritorial mandates will result in loss of Grandfathered status under the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (PPACA). If the client wishes to retain Grandfathered status, the plan must continue to apply these extraterritorial mandates. However, if the mandates no longer apply because the client has no employees that live and/or work in the state (as applicable), Grandfathered status is not impacted. The client's decision must be indicated below:

_____ Remove the extraterritorial legislation. Client understands that this will result in loss of Grandfathered status under PPACA.

_____ Continue to apply the extraterritorial legislation. Client wants to retain Grandfathered status.

I confirm that I discussed the questions and answers with the client.
