Position Held: Broker/Owner

Interest Response: As a business professional in the real estate and development world, I have hands on know-how of construction and development of land projects. I also share the perspectives of the developers coming to our city as someone who has built and developed subdivisions. It is important to see all sides of these projects, to weigh each one and make a decision that impacts as many as possible in a positive way. I have learned so much having the privilege of serving on Water Utilities, Planning and Tax Review. All 3 function differently but make up the whole of the city and how it functions. Being a part of these citizens groups has allowed me to be a better leader and advocate for our great city. Sitting on the inside, so to speak, has given me many new insights and a much greater understanding of how things work. I feel I can continue to be an asset to these groups to help with the decision making and bring new ideas and solutions going forward.
