Interest Response: I have a marked dedication to our community development and would enthusiastically serve on the Commission if provided the opportunity to contribute to our city's planned growth, sustainability and economic development. As a Lean Six Sigma Black Belt, PMP Certified Project Manager, and federal Program and Resource Manager, I have the transferable skillset that would lend itself to the functions set forth of the Planning Commission. I would welcome the opportunity to provide citizen insight, input into Lee's Summit's mission and vision, pushing it forward for future generations to come.

I bring a data driven skillset with proven results balancing projected fiscal and resource planning, project execution through evaluation and benefits realization. All of which wrap objectivity and structure into the process. Prioritization, evaluation, and review of current development proposals should be balanced against the long-term impacts of growth and change.

I have facilitated dialogue sessions and collaboratively worked with varying, disciplined stakeholders to reach a common goal or proposal. Effective communication, both internal and external, is a key element and critical success factor for any effort.

I bring property ownership/management, legislative policy review as well as customer service experience that lend itself to prioritization, sound judgement and guided principles necessary to make the appropriate decisions, recommendations regarding zoning ordinances, capital improvements, environmental studies, public interest, subdivision/land development applications, planned residential development, and all things planning.

My commitment is to the city and citizens of Lee's Summit, its path forward and would proudly welcome the opportunity to serve.
