5. Roundtable

Councilmember Binney began by asking about a Funding agreement in the New Longview Area that included a half million dollars to be used for the dredging of Little Longview Lake. He has heard from several people that it looks like a mote instead of a lake which is the opposite effect of what they thought the money was going for. He requested a review of expenditures on the project. Nancy Yendes, Chief Counsel of Infrastructure and Planning, offered to have staff report on what happened and direction on where to look next for information.

Councilmember Edson mentioned the Stormwater issue and that it's not fair to citizens to wait while not only finding options to fund a study, but also until the study is done to find solutions. Discussion ensued with George Binger, City Engineer, who mentioned that staff could present the last presentation given to the Committee which shows the cost of a stormwater utility as of a couple of years ago to implement the ongoing maintenance needs and the day to day operations. It started out with three options with one to three crews full-time. The study is approximately $300K as an option for one time money in the annual budget for funding. The study will help to establish rates, how the utility would be set up, and how the City can engage the public in that process to have a good plan to put forward.

Chairman Faith mentioned the Ignite strategic plan and Mr. Binger said that stormwater pops up about 12 times in the different core areas of the plan. Christal Weber, Assistant City Manager, said that one of the critical success factors in the Ignite strategic plan was City Services and infrastructure so that would be a topic that the group could discuss. Councilmember DeMoro, who is on that team, reassured the Committee that it will be addressed.
